FRIENDS

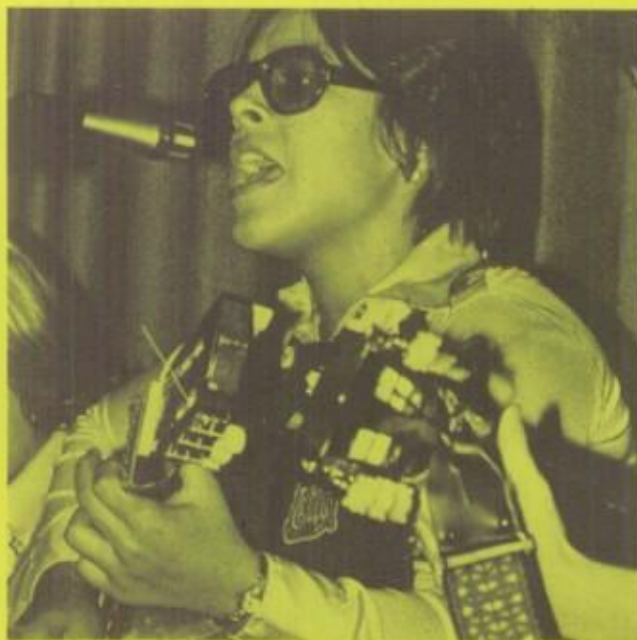

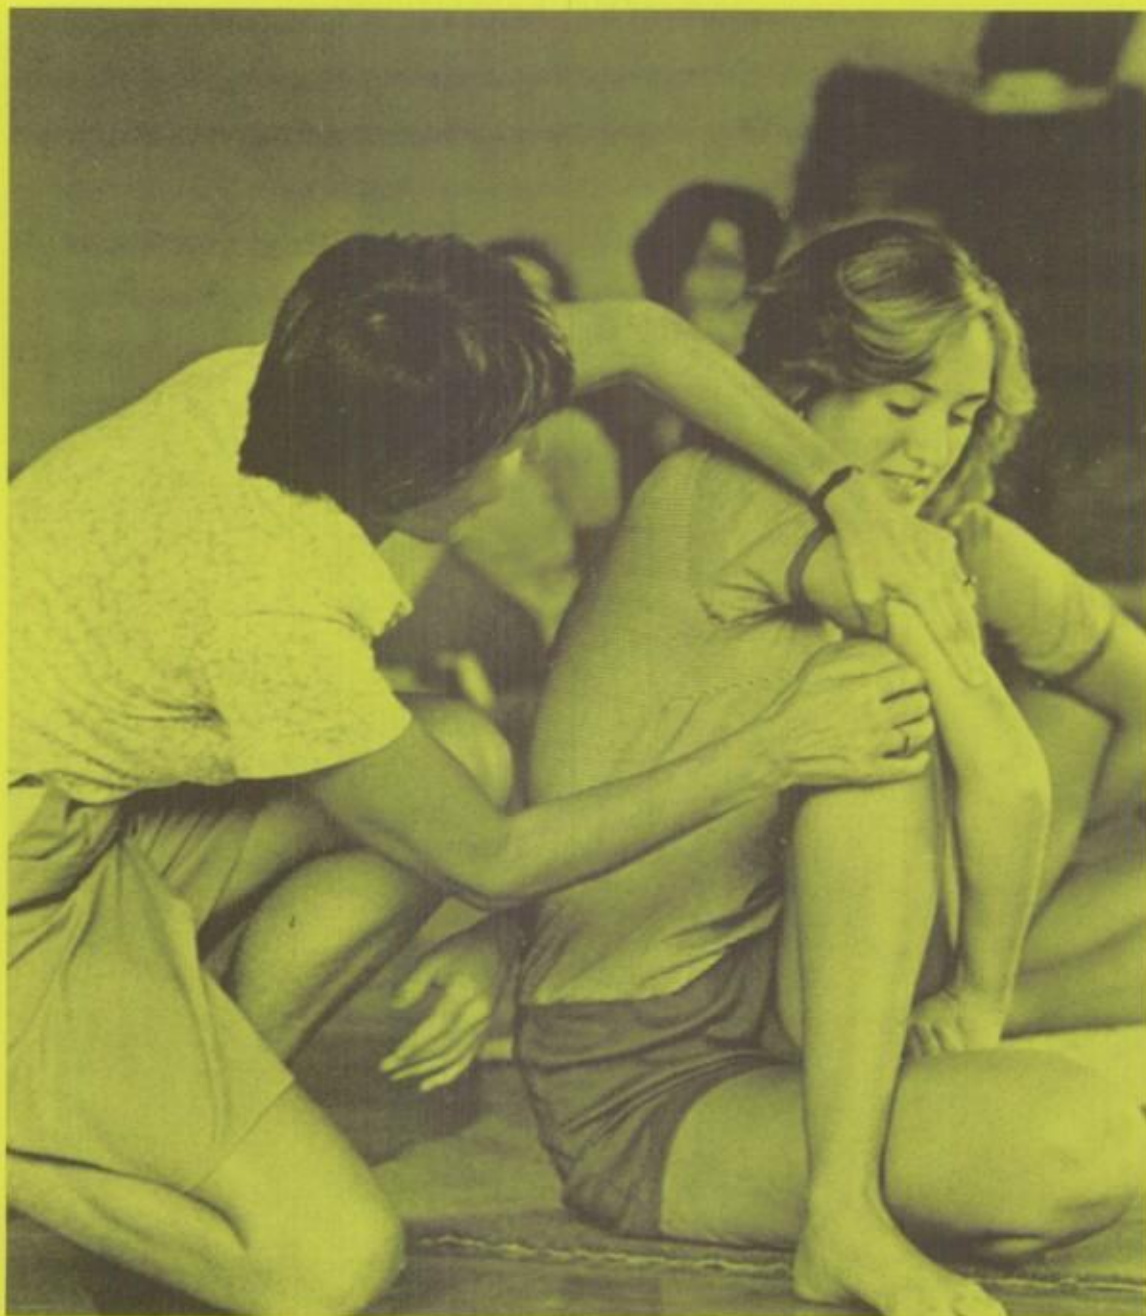

“A friend is someone who will understand

And is always ready to lend a hand.

So the kind of friend I want to be,

Is the kind of friend you are to me."

BE INVOLVED

Part of the program was skits and songs of stage.

Senior, Diana Gethroe (center) got two surprises!

Senior-Frosh Day gets you in the strangest moods!

Senior Freshmen Day

The hardest job for the Seniors was trying to find their Freshmen sisters.

A gift from my Senior sister.

Freshman-Senior Day, October 1st. was a great day at Agnes. It was a time to have fun, a time of unity, and a day for freshmen and seniors to get to know each other. The seniors entertained the freshmen with skits and songs. Everyone had a good time. Flowers and gifts were exchanged and the freshmen found a friend who cares about her, someone she can depend on, in her senior sister. Knowing someone who's been through almost the same thing you're going through now can make everything a little easier.

The general feeling Seniors and Freshmen showed during the day.

Okay, who took my present?

It's People and Places

The Student Activity Council (SAC) of St. Agnes has its prime objective the coordination of the various student activities that take place during the school year. By doing so, it hopes to foster and advance true school spirit a loyalty to the school and "responsible freedom" on the part of the students. This year we have attempted to strengthen SAC by expanding the duties and responsibility of the Homeroom Representative and Class Presidents. We have also organized an executive board that hopefully will represent the best interests of the students. The members of this board will be the three SAC chairladies, Ana Mola, Linda Mathe, and Phyllis Dantonio, the four class presidents and the faculty moderator S. Peggy Krajci. The Homeroom Reps along with the executive board will compose the Representative Assembly. In addition, SAC has various committees each with a faculty moderator and student secretary. A committee is responsible for conducting a specific activity and to keep the executive board informed of its activities. The members of these committees are expected to attend all meetings and cooperate in the planning and work of the activity. The secretary keeps minutes of all meetings. In conclusion SAC is the "voice" of St. Agnes because the students, faculty, and administration all work together throughout the school year to help keep St. Agnes as good as it is.

Holy Cross was seething with people. They all seemed to anticipate the night's events. The program opened with music from the Holy Cross Varsity Band. Then the action began. The first game was between the Holy Cross boys and their fathers in two-six minute games. Then the Agnes girls came out to compete against the boys in two-six minute games, followed by brothers/teachers vs. the boys.

The St. Agnes team consisted of Seniors disguised as: a priest (Laura Cole) a nun (Kathy Golden) as team captain; a motorcyclist (Mary Ann Yuen); hockey players (Jennifer Loud and Mary Bishop); football player (Ellen Arocho); a martian (Janet Dunn); a baby (MaGreen Richards); McDonald worker (Mary Ellen Murphy); a Team Coaches Anna Mola and Linda Mathe.

Time flies especially when you're having fun. The Band played their last song and the end of a terrific night came to a close.

Halloween

At Agnes, Halloween belongs to the Juniors. On this day the Juniors dress-up in costumes. It seems that each year the costumes become more and more artistic and creative than in the previous year. This year's Juniors weren't to be surpassed. The girls dressed in costumes ranging from a ferocious tiger to a sexy pom-pom girl.

After classes were finished the Juniors celebrated by having a party in the cafeteria.

Junior Trip

Bright and early on Saturday morning October 30, ninety-six eager juniors with luggage and cameras in hand, and five very patient chaperones boarded two luxury buses which were to take them to Washington D.C. Once in Washington the girls followed a tightly filled agenda. They were always on the go, visiting such places as the Capitol, John F. Kennedy Center, Washington Monument, Lincoln and Jefferson Memorial and Smithsonian Institute, the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, and many more. Between the sightseeing tours the girls rested at Marion Hotel, where some enjoyed themselves in the pool, and others shopped for souvenirs. The buses returned the girls to College Point that following Monday night and the trip may have technically ended there but the memories will live on forever.

Square Dance

The Father-Daughter Square Dance had a new setting this year. It was held in the Madonna Room of St. Fidelis Church. The dancing was great with the dancers full of energy and high spirits. Refreshments were served and everyone left with a smile on their faces and a folk beat in their heart.

Thanksgiving

Our Thanksgiving Day Mass was held on November 23 in the auditorium which opened with guitar playing "Teach Your Children Well." Father Ron Petroski gave a dynamic homily. He made everyone feel at ease with a few jokes here and there. His talk although funny was quite meaningful. During the offertory the collected foods were brought up by volunteers in carton boxes. After Communion there was a slide presentation developed by Ellen Arocho to the music of Godspell's "All Good Gifts." After the Mass, you went away with a smile on your face, a thought in your mind, and a handshake from Father wishing you a Happy Thanksgiving.

Mr. Daly's sister advises George the one-day Santa Claus.

Around Christmas time a familiar tune can be heard coming from the gym and cafeteria but the words seem unfamiliar. That's because they are being sung in a different language. These songs reach their height at the Aguinaldo Mass (Christmas Mass) when the whole school joins in to sing in Spanish. The school seems to hold an aura of peace and good-will. The mood brings to mind the words of an old Christmas Song "Why can't everyday be Christmas?"

Aside from the academics at Agnes there is a feeling of friendship and openness here. You can see this everywhere in the school.

The students here have always been proud of their freedom to grow as individuals and at the same time make new friends. In order for a person to grow, she must have some responsibilities and at Agnes we are able to be independent and grow into mature women.

Junior Ring Day

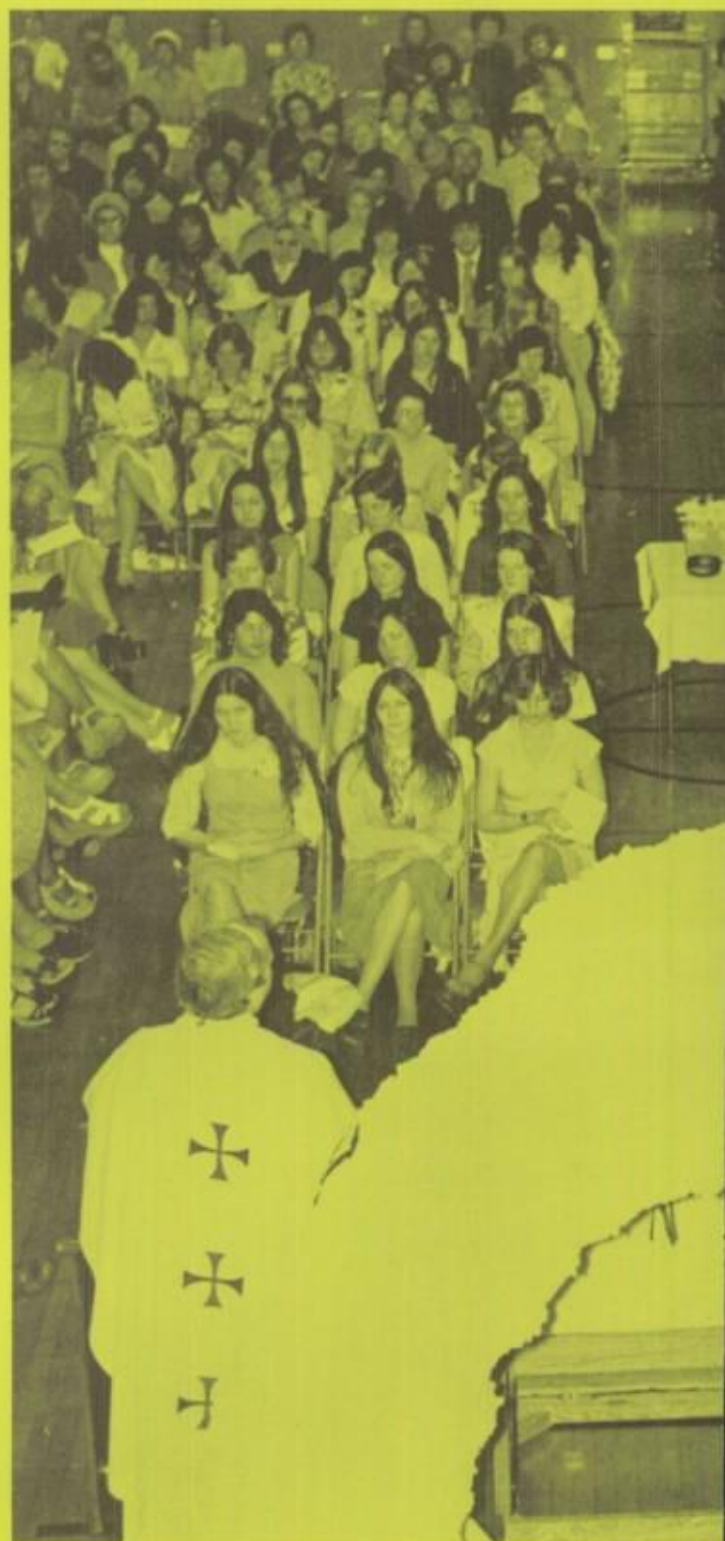

Finally the day we've been longing for since Freshman year is here. After weeks of stuffing and decorating a fifteen foot ring and paying balances that always came when we were broke, we received our "rings". Miss A. DiSarno and the Ring Day Committee created for the Juniors one of the most beautiful and memorable days of our high-school years. After the Mass was celebrated and the ring ceremony completed, the girls and their friends left for dining and partying at various restaurants.

Sportsnite

In the Spring, St. Agnes has a Sportsnite. Everyone looks forward to it. In the meantime, the girls who participate, work and practice very hard to do the best they can for their team. Freshmen and Seniors are the white team and Sophomores and Juniors are the blue team. It is held at Holy Cross H.S. in the gym. Judges are there to see which team is the most qualified to win. They judge on spirit, costumes, neatness and teamwork of each team. Each team receives points. At the end of the evening, it is exciting to find out the winners. The Seniors become very emotional, since it is their last year and they realize how much they will miss their friends and school.

Senior Trip

This year, the Seniors went skiing in January. They spent the weekend in Massachusetts. On Friday, it seemed as if the day would never end. We had a snow fall that morning and the skiers were eager for the slopes. Finally they all boarded the buses and started on their journey. For the skiers, the slopes were great. Some adventurous seniors skied Friday night also. For the non-skiers there were amusements at the Hotel and in the town. But, all the Seniors will agree, that the trip went much too swiftly; before we knew it, we were on our way home again.

Graduation

A time for memories and reminiscing, a time for old and new friends. Graduation always seems to symbolize a new beginning. While we are sad at the thought of leaving everything familiar we are filled with happy anticipation of the future and what it might hold for us. Although our paths after graduation might differ in many ways, we'll never forget the friendships we've formed at Agnes.

Middle States

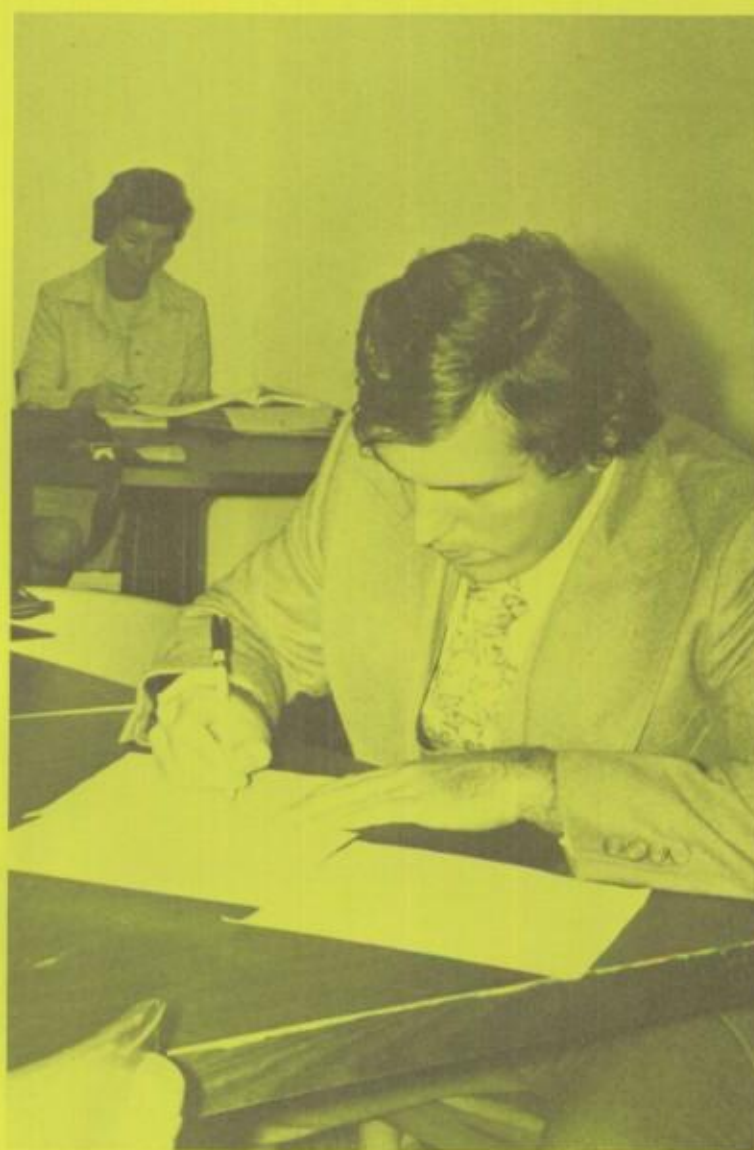

St. Agnes was visited this year by members of the Middle Atlantic Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

The preparation for these four days began in the 1975-76 school year when the school began an in-depth self-evaluation of itself. All these efforts culminated at the time the committee came to observe St. Agnes.

As a result of this visit, St. Agnes received some recommendations and many commendations as a fine educational edifice. The committee commented on the dedication and industry of the faculty and the Spirit of the student body.

A CHALLENGE

On the first day of school not only were the freshmen lost but also the sophomores, juniors and seniors. Our general office had been moved to the faculty room and the old general office had been transformed into an administration office. But, this was not the only difference this year. We had a new administration, consisting of a new principal, Sr. Kathleen Waters and assistant-principals, Sr. Mary Higgins and Sr. Louise Raab. St. Agnes has undergone many changes this year, but St. Agnes is and always will be St. Agnes.

Physical Education

The Phys. Ed. department is perhaps the most popular department. In our classes we have a chance to learn and develop poise and coordination by dance and games. What is most surprising is that there are only two teachers in this department. They are in turn helped by the "Leaders Club." All the efforts of the department culminates in an exhibition called SPORTSNITE.

National Honor Society

After a year of dormancy the Honor Society has been reactivated. Sr. Miriam Arthur, our moderator, got the Society moving at a rapid pace. After the second meeting we already had our president, vice-secretary and treasurer. The induction was planned for Feb. 3 and we were on our way. This year the Society included an abundance of hard workers both Senior and Junior.

Math League

The math league is composed of a V and JV division. The members of each team participate annually in four contests which are conducted in schools in the NY-NJ area. Interschool and intramural trophies are awarded annually to the teams and individual students who score highest among the participating members of the league.

The Bi-centennial Ronettes achieved the greatest success of the volleyball court ever seen at St. Agnes! Things have been improving over the last several years. But this year, everything came together. The varsity team placed among the leaders in the October PSAL Invitational tourney. They then went on to win Agnes third Queens divisional title in eight years. They finally topped off their 11-1 season with a second-place finish in the diocesan championship. The J-V Ronettes improved over last year's record and should help supply many players for next year's champion (?) team.

St. Fidelis Students

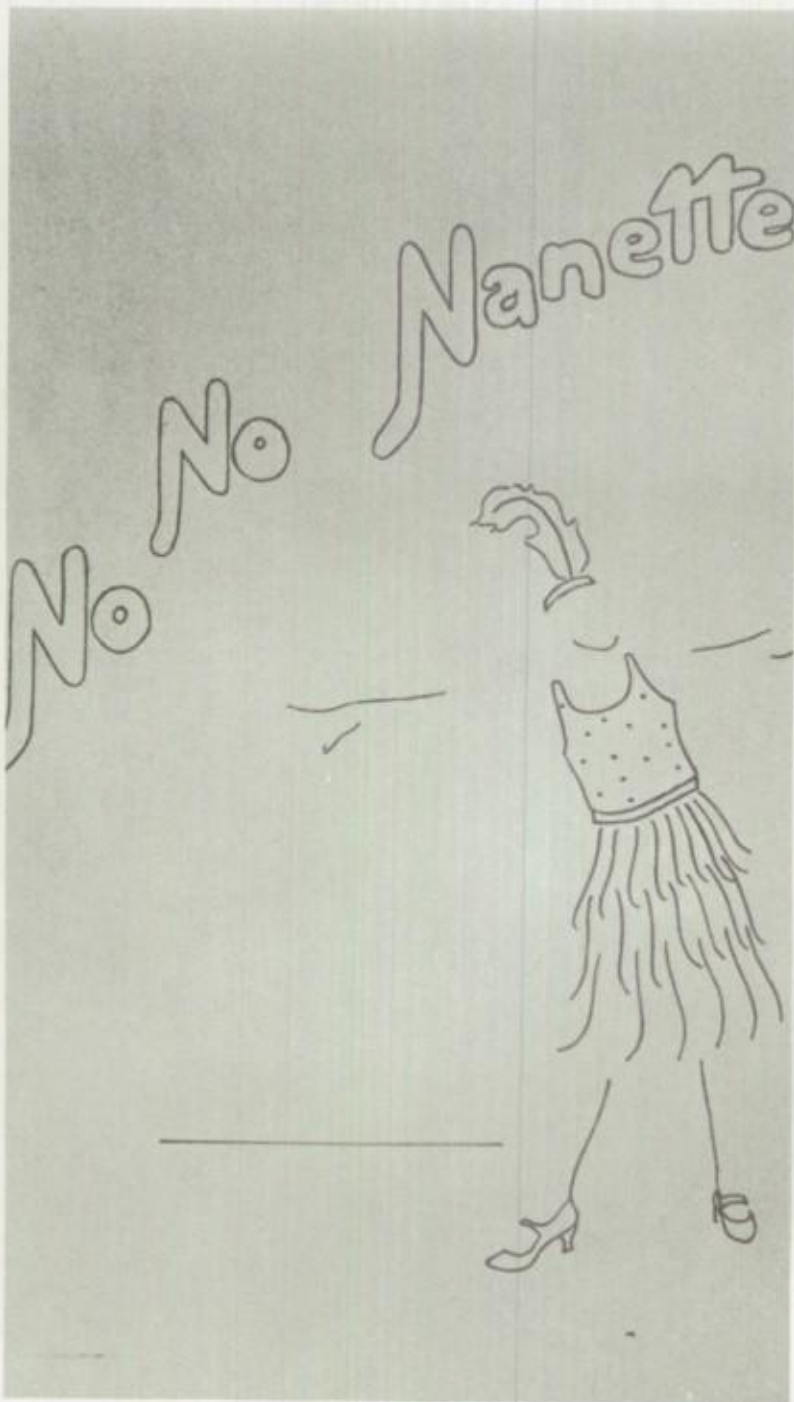

The members of the Future Teachers club spend time each week tutoring or acting as teacher's aides in St. Fidelis. The club gives the girls a chance to decide if they want a teaching career. It also helps the girls learn how to work with younger children. On certain days you could walk into St. Fidelis Grammar School and see Agnes students helping the younger children. These students are from the Future teachers Club. These girls learn what the world of teaching is about and this knowledge helps prepare them for a career in the teaching profession.

"No No Nanette"

This year the spotlight shone on St. Agnes' presentation of the play "No No Nanette." The stage once again displayed Agnes' acting talents. Under the influence of Sister Ave and Sister Roseann, the play got underway in December and the cast spent many long hours rehearsing in order for the show to be a success. The lead role of Nanette, played by Laureen Montano, as well as the rest of the cast showed a truly fantastic performance. The chorus group, which both sang and danced numerous times, proved their importance in the play. The audience's response to the play was not only an ovation, but also an encouragement for more plays in the future.

Yearbook

A trip to Maryland last June and a weekend to Columbia gave the yearbook staff the greatest insight into the workings of a yearbook. From both these conferences the staff; with their moderator, learned new techniques that are involved in compiling a yearbook.

With this information we began this book full of anticipation and energy. Although we knew that being a staff member involves a great deal of time and effort—we have done it!

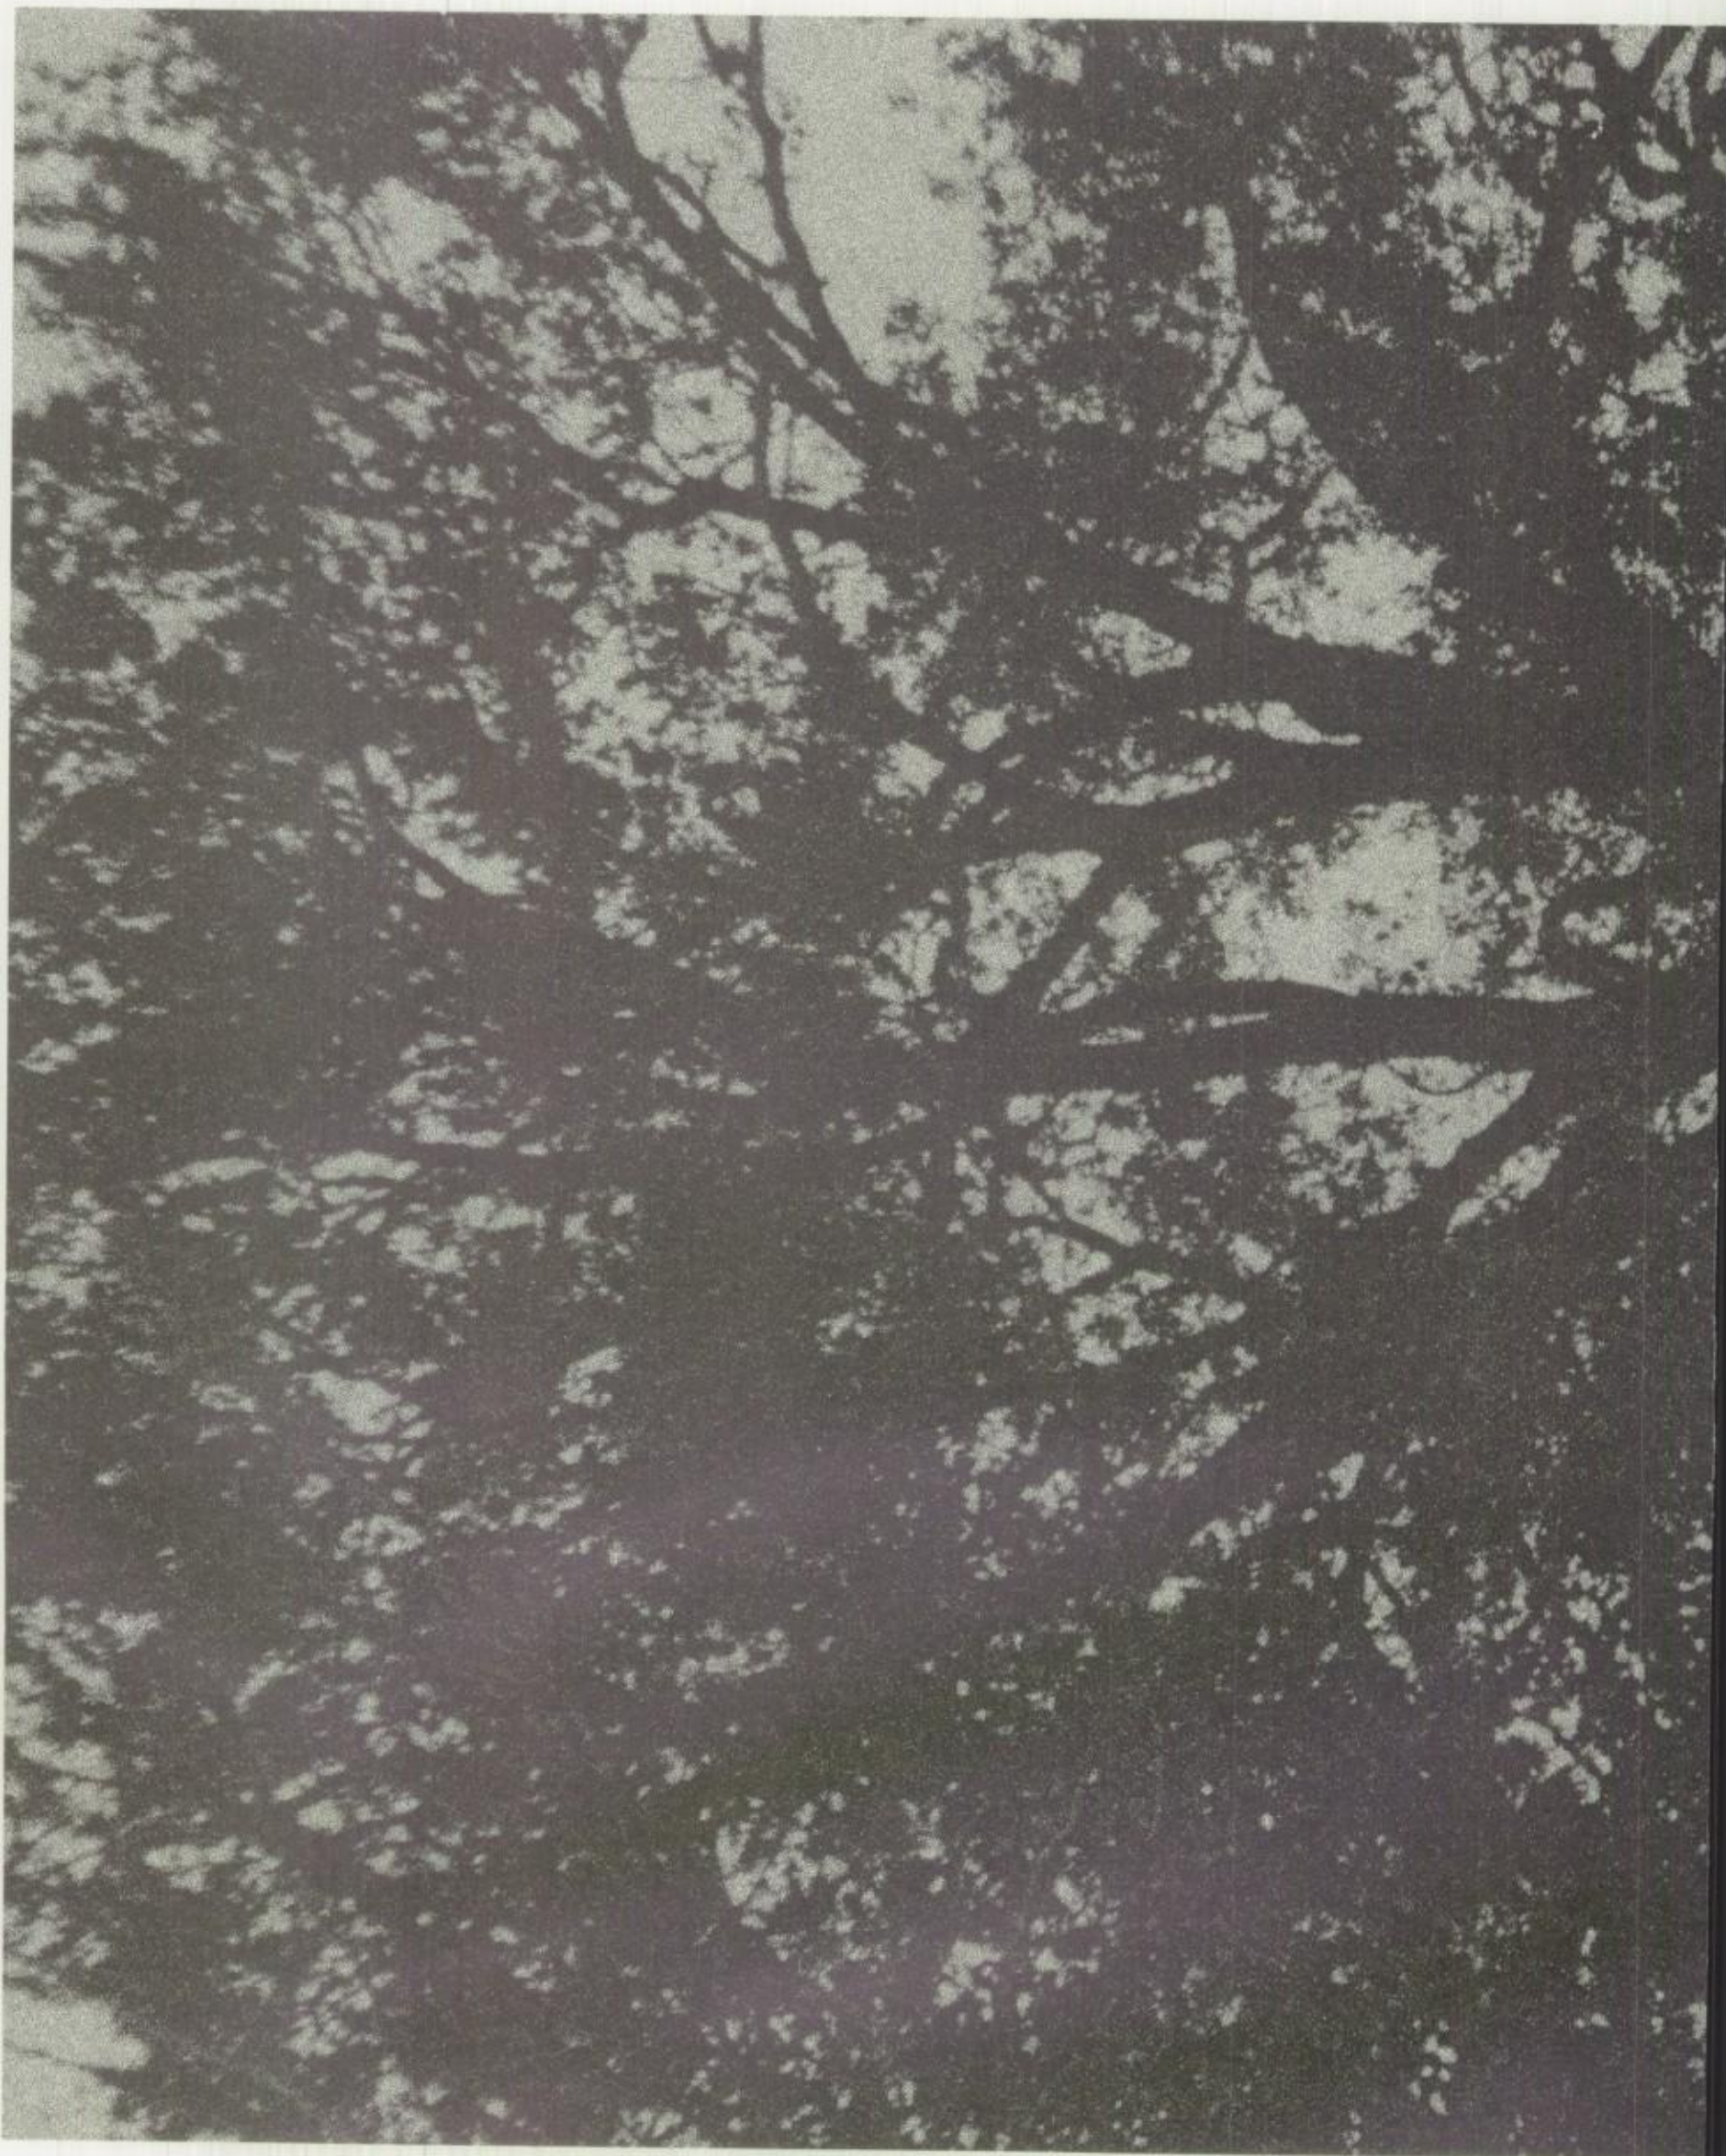

The editors of the yearbook held their staff meetings on Mondays and the smaller staffs worked during the week. All the staff members spent many hours helping to make this book something we're proud of. Due to our hard work and diligence this book has been presented to you without commercial interruption.

Hello friends
I'm so glad to see you
once again
It's sophomore year
A time to grow together
So take my hand
and we'll be on our way
Let's help each other along
We can make it

We made it through frosh year together
We know one another now
We can do it again if we try
Just think of the semi-formal
Of all the fun we had
Of all the memories that will go with us
As we travel on
When we have friends
LOVE never ends.

Juniors-from the blue
 To the white we are united
 To be ever changing
 Cause tomorrow will be another day
 With only the yesterdays to grow from
 Showing only but a mark of change

 Growing to a new stage not yet fearing
 The day when we'll all be chosen
 And placed to fulfill a new meaning

The Journey of a life time
Begins with a single step
Reaching and searching
For that moment when—

Somewhere over that rainbow
Skies are blue
Dreams that you dare to dream
Really do come true.

Think not of
how many years
have passed But of how much life has been lived, Of how much love has been shared.
